1. This opinion contains indications relating to the following items:

- ☒ Box No. I Basis of the opinion
- ☐ Box No. II Priority
- ☐ Box No. III Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability
- ☐ Box No. IV Lack of unity of invention
- ☒ Box No. V Reasoned statement under Rule 43bis.1(a)(i) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement
- ☐ Box No. VI Certain documents cited
- ☐ Box No. VII Certain defects in the international application
- ☐ Box No. VIII Certain observations on the international application

2. FURTHER ACTION

If a demand for international preliminary examination is made, this opinion will usually be considered to be a written opinion of the International Preliminary Examining Authority ("IPEA"). However, this does not apply where the applicant chooses an Authority other than this one to be the IPEA and the chosen IPEA has notified the International Bureau under Rule 66.1b(b) that written opinions of this International Searching Authority will not be so considered.

If this opinion is, as provided above, considered to be a written opinion of the IPEA, the applicant is invited to submit to the IPEA a written reply together, where appropriate, with amendments, before the expiration of three months from the date of mailing of Form PCT/ISA/220 or before the expiration of 22 months from the priority date, whichever expires later.

For further options, see Form PCT/ISA/220.

Box No. I Basis of the opinion

1. With regard to the language, this opinion has been established on the basis of the international application in the language in which it was filed, unless otherwise indicated under this item.
  - ☐ This opinion has been established on the basis of a translation from the original language into the following language , which is the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international search (under Rules 12.3 and 23.1(b)).
2. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application and necessary to the claimed invention, this opinion has been established on the basis of:
  - a. type of material:
    - ☐ a sequence listing
    - ☐ table(s) related to the sequence listing
  - b. format of material:
    - ☐ in written format
    - ☐ in computer readable form
  - c. time of filing/furnishing:
    - ☐ contained in the international application as filed.
    - ☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.
    - ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority for the purposes of search.
3. ☐ In addition, in the case that more than one version or copy of a sequence listing and/or table relating thereto has been filed or furnished, the required statements that the information in the subsequent or additional copies is identical to that in the application as filed or does not go beyond the application as filed, as appropriate, were furnished.

Re Item V.

- 1 Reference is made to the following documents:

D1 : WO 03/014756 A (KONINKLIJKE PHILIPS ELECTRONICS N.V)
20 February 2003

- 2 Document D1, which is considered to represent the most relevant state of the art, discloses a circuitry for delay fault testing. Two clock signals with different frequencies generate a train of two clock pulses for each clock signals. The train of pulses being arranged such that the rising edges of the second pulses in each of said trains are aligned. The alignment of the pulse edges relies upon the occurrence of an instance at which the inputs to a clock generator see an event when the edges of the input clock pulses are aligned.

From this, the subject-matter of independent claim 1 differs in that initiating and ending the clock pulses are done by threshold value detection in counting means.

- 2.1 The subject-matter of claim 1 is therefore novel (Article 33(2) PCT)
The problem to be solved by the present invention may be regarded as:
Reducing the time taken between the request and the generation of the two clock pulses.
- 2.2 The solution to this problem proposed in claim 1 of the present application is considered as involving an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT) for the following reasons: The generation of the clock pulses according to claim 1 ensures shorter delay time between request and the generation of the pulses. Furthermore the application can be used for clocks having time periods which are odd multiples of the fastest clock period arising in the circuit under test.
- 2.3 Claims 2-13 are dependent on claim 1 and as such also meet the requirements of the PCT with respect to novelty and inventive step.

WRITTEN OPINION OF THE INTERNATIONAL SEARCHING
AUTHORITY (SEPARATE SHEET)

International application No.

PCT/IB2004/052847

- 3 Independent claim 14 discloses a method for producing a delay fault test signal according to the test signal producing circuitry of claim 1.
- 3.1 The subject matter of claim 14 is therefore considered as involving an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT).
- 3.2 Claim 15 is dependent on claim 14 and as such also meet the requirements of the PCT with respect to novelty and inventive step.
